

Amanda Hoffsis

Associate Vice President of Planning, Architecture and Real Estate – The Ohio State University President of Campus Partners

Amanda Hoffsis is the President of Campus Partners, leading their community development work throughout the University District neighborhoods, including the development and management of multiple mixed-use projects adjacent to campus. In addition, Amanda is the Associate Vice President of Planning, Architecture and Real Estate for The Ohio State University. Amanda's university responsibilities include day-to-day management of all real estate services, including all university related property sales, acquisitions, leases and entitlements. Amanda also oversees the general operations of the Planning, Architecture and Real Estate department. Amanda is a wife and a mother of three.